https://www.cccc.org/news_blogs/john/2010/03/18/the-unique-challenges-of-church-boards/

- 1) How do you feel about the statement “Dysfunctioning church boards can be seen as an opportunity for developing interpersonal skills”?
- 2) Lack of leadership training can contribute to dysfunction in a church board. What plans will you make to develop your chair and senior leader’s skills as they relate to board leadership?
- 3) Does your ministry allow for thorough orientation and development of new board members? If not, what action can you take today to initiate that crucial process?
- 4) Would you say your ministry is a cohesive team of board and staff together? Is it a good representation of the functioning body of Christ—the reason it exists in the first place?
- 5) How good are the board’s conflict resolution skills? Should this be a topic for a board training session?
