Discussion Questions

1. Do the activities of your church or ministry demonstrate love purely for the sake of love? If there is anything you're doing for other reasons, re-evaluate that program based on Jesus' example of his love for society.
2. We don't need to be anything more than who we are to make a difference for Christ. Given where God has placed you, how can you influence those around you in your own way?
3. Local churches and agencies can have a mutually beneficial relationship that will increase their faithful presence in society. To explore this topic, do a group study using the book, The Church at Work, as a resource.
4. Consider organizations local to your church or ministry location that do good in secular society. In what ways could you affirm and support the good work that they are doing?
5. As Christian leaders, what can you do to encourage those you lead to sacrificially incorporate faith and evangelism into everyday life?
