Discussion Questions

1. Is your current mission statement delivering the benefits listed in the section The Power of Mission Statements?
  - a. Have people rallied around it?
  - b. Is it inspirational?
  - c. Is it specific enough to allow more confident delegation of decision authority?
  - d. Is it time to sharpen the mission statement or to phrase it a different way?

2. Is the mission statement embedded deeply enough and talked about enough that it is becoming second nature to staff and board members?
  - a. Would there be a benefit in making more of the statement in the life and work of the ministry?
